

Panoramic views and a cozy atmosphere on Istanbul's rooftops

Mikla

One of the most visited rooftops in Istanbul, Mikla was opened in 2005 by Turkish-Finn, Mehmet Gürs. With its breathtaking views along with one of the finest dinners in Istanbul, what more could a visitor ask for? Mikla is a refined Istanbul restaurant for those who want to dine while being charmed by magical views of Hagia Sophia and Topkapı Palace. You are sure to be taken for a gastronomic and historic ride through old Istanbul. Located on the top of the Marmara Pera Hotel, Mikla is funky and retro with chrome 1970s and 1950s furniture and a stunning wooden rail sleeper bar. Serving a tantalizing menu suitable for a variety of palates, Mikla opened a new Anatolian kitchen, updating traditional dishes with contemporary techniques. ■
